Connections is a multi-module group program that provides a great alternative to individual intervention sessions.

Participants are placed in peer groups, based on each child's age, stage of development, and family goals. Participants remain with the same peers throughout the whole year so that they can build lasting peer relationships while generalizing their skills and knowledge with new adult leaders and new themes throughout the school year.

This year, Connections will be split into three modules:

- Fall (September 24-December 14)
- Winter (January 7-March 29)
- Spring (April 8-June 28)

What are the Group Themes?

Throughout the year, groups will be exposed to a variety of themes. Past themes have included multi-media art, sports, outdoor exploration, and many more. These activities provide opportunities to develop peer relationships, explore new leisure activities, and practice other therapeutic goals (fine motor skills, social awareness, etc.).

Why Choose Groups?

Learning within a group allows children to develop three main life skills: developing relationships with peers through new interests and hobbies, learning to work and learn in a group environment, and learning how to regulate themselves within a social environment.

Who Runs Groups?

All Connections groups are run by Lead Behavioural Interventionists from Little Steps and are overseen by a Speech-Language Pathologist, an Occupational Therapist, and a Behaviour Consultant to ensure that appropriate clinical goals are being set and targeted each group.
